CULTURALLY MODIFIED TREES In DuPont & Our Region

Archaeologist Kelsey Maloy will present on Culturally Modified Trees—trees altered by humans for resources, navigation, or other cultural purposes—in DuPont and beyond. "Communities play a vital role in defining and maintaining culturally modified trees. My hope is that participants will leave with a greater awareness of these resources, fostering a broader understanding of the diversity of Culturally Modified Trees locally."

Light refreshments provided
Historical Society members & non-members welcome
